Urban Life Launches Summer Ministry to Marriages and Families Internet Outreach Continues to Grow

Harrisburg, PA –Following the successful completion of a 12-part series on Wisdom, Pastors Chris and Carol Green now turn their attention to another level of ministry in the Harrisburg, Pa community and that is the focus on the urban family.

"I was in my prayer closet early this morning," discloses Senior Pastor Chris Green "I'm just seeking the Lord in a whole new way in this season of our ministry. I know the Lord put on my heart to lay a foundation of wisdom, so that as we minister to the families that attend our weekly Sunday Café, the Holy Spirit will have solid scriptures to bring back to the remembrance of husbands, fathers, wives and mothers. Now I believe He's directing us to address the specific needs of families in this community."

Since February, Pastors Chris and Carol have carefully taught line upon line, precept upon precept, in providing practical answers and Biblical solutions to everyday problems and challenges. In the month of May, they paused from the series to minister to mothers and daughters. In June they took the opportunity on Father's Day to minister to fathers and sons.

Throughout the year, the theme for Urban Life Church has been 'Building Again in 2010' with the understanding that this was to be a year of 'Extreme Makeover'.

"We started the year by teaching that God was going to start some serious demolition on our lives," explains the urban pastor whose family has been stationed in Harrisburg, PA exactly six years on July 9th. "Many Americans are familiar with the TV show where Ty Pennington and a team of house designers give a worthy family a completely new home. The process always begins by demolishing the old one before they build the new one."

This year has been devoted to allowing God to take this church family through that process. Through the weekly sessions of teaching, these pastors are demolishing old concepts and ideas about God, along with tearing down walls of doubt and fear. They even released their newest book on the subject: Overcomers, Under Orders – Breaking Through Walls of Doubt and Fear.

The ministry has begun to see new faces and most visitors are now returning, which is a new trend that further encourages the direction and strategy of the ministry. The web hits continue to grow as well, with the United States hits suddenly surging to their highest levels ever.

"Now as we move into the month of July," concludes Pastor Chris "the Lord is directing us to minister to families in a more intentional way. I don't know if it's to be by way of teaching, preaching, prayer, prophetic exhortation, all of the above, or something completely different. We are just coming to our sessions each week, totally open to whatever and however God wants to move."
